DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of claims 1-5 in the reply filed on 7/27/2004 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Information Disclosure Statement

If applicant is aware of any relevant prior art, he/she requested to cite it on form PTO-1449 in accordance with the guidelines set forth in M.P.E.P. 609.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Zosel et al. (6,661,070).

Art Unit: 2811

Zosel et al. teach in figures 5-17 a MEMS device using an SOI wafer, comprising:

- a first silicon layer 14;

- an insulation layer 16 formed on the first silicon layer;

- a second silicon layer 12 formed on the insulation layer;

- a protective layer 20 formed on the second silicon layer;

and

- a ground hole 22 extending from an upper portion of the protective layer 20 to the first silicon layer 14 and having a conductive material layer 26 therein;

- wherein the second silicon layer has a predetermined structure thereon;

- wherein the protective layer includes a vacant space under the structure (see figure 17), wherein

- the ground hole is completely filled with the conductive material layer 26, whereby the ground hole electrically connected from a lower portion thereof to an upper portion of the protective layer.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2811

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Zosel et al.

Zosel et al. teach substantially the entire claimed structure, as applied to claim 1 above, except forming the conductive material along an inner surface of the ground hole by using a deposition process or a plating process.

The claimed limitations recited in claim 5 (“forming the conductive material along an inner surface of the ground hole by using a deposition process or a plating process”) are process limitations and would not carry patentable weight in this claim drawn to a structure, because distinct structure is not necessarily produced. Note that a “product by process” claim is directed to the product per se, no matter how actually made, In re Hirao, 190 USPQ 15 at 17 (footnote 3). See also In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685; In re Luck, 177 USPQ 523; In re Fessmann, 180 USPQ 324; In re Avery, 186 USPQ 161; In re Wertheim, 191 USPQ 90 (209 USPQ 554 does not deal with this issue); and In re Marosi et al., 218 USPQ 289, all of which make it clear that it is the patentability of the final product per se which must be determined in a “product by process” claim, and not the patentability of the process, and that an old or obvious product produced by a new method is not patentable as a product, whether claimed in “product by process” claims or not. Note that the applicant has the burden of proof in such cases, as the above case law makes clear.
